

The following list was published by the New Jersey Turnpike Authority on their website and was removed shortly after. It is believed to have been created by the legal team department whom was handling the disinterment project.

There were three burial ledgers found and turned over by a worker of the County of Hudson that were for the Hudson County Burial Grounds located at Snake Hill Secaucus New Jersey. The burial ledgers were dated December 31, 1880 through April 13,1962. The burial ledgers listed 9,783 interments, the Louis Berger Group only removed 4,571 sets of remains as part of the disinterment project. Note that there are also numerous New Jersey State death certificates that predate the burial ledgers of people who were interred at the Hudson County Burial Grounds. Yes, there are still people buried at Snake Hill. The New Jersey Turnpike roadway was built on top of a large section of the cemetery.

Please keep this information page with the PDF file. There should be a total of 183 pages.

A separate and more accurate transcription was also preformed by volunteers and is accessible on the GraveInfo.com website.
